

HUMOR COLLECTION 4

The inmate on death row was scheduled to be put to death by firing squad the follow morning. Throughout the day, the prison guards were being very nice to him. But when they asked him if he wanted something specific for his last meal, he didn't want anything special. When they asked if there was something special he wanted to do, he said nothing. It went on like this all day. ... Finally when he was put before the firing squad, the guard asked if he wanted a cigarette and a blindfold. "No," the inmate said, "just get it over with." "Well, is there anything that I can do for you before you go?" said the guard. "You didn't even want a special last meal!" ... The inmate thought. "Actually," he said, "Music is my life. One thing I would really like would be to sing my favorite song, one whole time through, with no interruptions." ... The guard nodded and told him to go ahead. ... The inmate started, "One billion bottles of beer on the wall..."

How do crazy people go through the forest? They take the psycho path

What do you call a boomerang that doesn't work? A stick.

What lies at the bottom of the ocean and twitches? A nervous wreck.

Why are there so many Smiths in the phone book? They all have phones.

Why do bagpipers walk when they play? They're trying to get away from the noise.

Why do gorillas have big nostrils? Because they have big fingers

A woman was having a medical problem - her husband snoring. So she called the doctor one morning, and asked him if there was anything he could do to relieve her "suffering." ... "Well, there is one operation I can perform that will cure your husband, but it is really rather expensive. It will cost $1000 down, and payments of $450 for 24 months, plus payments for extras." ... "My goodness!" the woman exclaimed, "sounds like leasing a new sports car!" ... "Humm," the doctor murmured, "too obvious, huh?"

A lawyer cross-examined the adversary's main witness. "You claim to have stopped by Mrs. Edwards' house just after breakfast. Will you tell the jury what she said?" ... "Objection, your honor," shouted the other lawyer. ... There then followed a long argument between the lawyers as to whether the question was proper. Finally, after 45 minutes, the judge allowed it. ... "So," the first lawyer continued, "Please answer the question: What did Mrs. Edwards say when you went to her house after breakfast on December 3rd?" ... "Nothing," said the witness. "No one was home."

Did you hear about the two females who were watching a blonde walk by? ... The first one said, "I wonder whether she's a natural blonde or a bleached blonde." ... Young Son: Is it true, Dad, I heard that in some parts of Africa a man doesn't know his wife until he marries her? ... Dad: That happens in every country, son.

A Swiss guy, looking for directions, pulls up at a bus stop where two Englishmen are waiting. "Entschuldigung, koennen Sie Deutsch sprechen?" he says. The two Englishmen just stare at him. ... "Excusez-moi, parlez vous Francais?" The two continue to stare... "Parlare Italiano?" No response! .. "Hablan ustedes Espanol?" Still nothing. ... The Swiss guy drives off, extremely disgusted. ... The first Englishman turns to the second and says, "Y'know, maybe we should learn a foreign language...." ...

"Why?" says the other, "That bloke knew four languages, and it didn't do him any good."

One fine day, a bus driver went to the bus garage, started his bus, and drove off along the route. No problems for the first few stops, a few people got on, a few got off, and things went generally well. At the next stop, however, a big hulk of a guy got on. Six feet eight, built like a wrestler, arms hanging down to the ground. He glared at the driver and said, "Big John doesn't pay!" and sat down at the back. Did I mention that the driver was five feet three, thin, and basically meek? Well, he was. Naturally, he didn't argue with Big John, but he wasn't happy about it. The next day the same thing happened -- Big John got on again, made a show of refusing to pay, and sat down. And the next day, and the one after that, and so forth. This grated on the bus driver, who started losing sleep over the way Big John was taking advantage of him. Finally he could stand it no longer. He signed up for body building courses, karate, judo, and all that good stuff. By the end of the summer, he had become quite strong; what's more, he felt really good about himself. ... So on the next Monday, when Big John once again got on the bus and said, "Big John doesn't pay!" the driver stood up, glared back at the passenger, and screamed, "And why not?" ... With a surprised look on his face, Big John replied, "Big John has a bus pass."

"Well, my boyfriend, Steve, just lost all his money and life savings in the stock market," Mary explained. ... "Oh, that's too bad," Linda sympathized. "I'm sure you're feeling sorry for him." ... "Yeah, I am," Mary said. "He'll miss me."

What is a fine?? A tax for doing wrong. ... What is a tax?? A fine for doing well.

A minister was opening his mail one morning and. Drawing a single sheet of paper from an envelope he found written on it only one word: "FOOL". ... The next Sunday he announced, "I have known many people who have written letters and forgot to sign their name. ... "But this week I received a letter from someone who signed his name and had forgotten to write a letter."

Is it true that cannibals don't eat clowns because they taste funny?

If man evolved from monkeys and apes, why do we still have monkeys and apes?

How do they get the deer to cross at that yellow road sign?

If someone with multiple personalities threatens to kill himself, is it considered a hostage situation?

Is there another word for synonym?

Isn't it a bit unnerving that doctors call what they do "practice?"

If the police arrest a mime, do they tell him he has the right to remain silent?

A man sitting at the window one evening casually calls to his wife, "There's that woman that the guy next door neighbor is in love with!" His wife in the kitchen dropped the plate she was drying, ran into the living room, knocked over a vase, and looked out the window. "Where? Where?" she demanded. ... Right over there on the corner. The lady in the blue dress." ... "You idiot! That's his wife!!!" ... "Yes, I know," the husband said with a satisfied grin.

The psychiatrist was not expecting the distraught stranger who staggered into his office and slumped into a chair. ... "You've got to help me. I'm losing my memory, Doctor," he sobbed. "I once had a successful business, a wife, home and family; I was a respected member of the community. But all that's gone now. Since my memory began failing, I've lost the business - I couldn't remember my clients' names. My wife and children have left me, too; and why shouldn't they - some nights I wouldn't get home until four or five in the morning. I'd forget where I lived...And it's getting worse. Doctor - it's getting worse!" ... "This is not an unusual form of neurosis," the psychiatrist said soothingly. "Now tell me, just how long ago did you first become aware of this condition?" ... "Condition?" The man sat up in his chair. "What condition?"

"My poor man," said the kind old lady to the pan handler, "it must be dreadful to be lame. But think how much worse it would be if you were blind." ... "You got that right, lady," agreed the pan handler. When I was blind, I was always getting counterfeit money."

"I know that smart-alec Tex," said the first. "He's going to start bragging about that new car he bought as soon as he gets here." ... "Not Tex," said the second. "He'll always just be a good ol' boy. When he walks in, I'm sure all he'll say is 'hello.'" ...

"I know Tex better than any of you," said the third. "He's so smart, he'll figure out a way to do both. Here he comes now..." ...

Tex swung open the bunkhouse door and shouted, "Audi, partners!"

One day a group of scientists got together and decided that man had come a long way and no longer needed God. So they picked one scientist to go and tell Him that they were done with Him. ... The scientist walked up to God and said, "God, we've decided that we no longer need You. We're to the point that we can clone people and do many miraculous things, so why don't You just go on and get lost." ... God listened very patiently and kindly to the man and after the scientist was through talking, God said, "Very well, how about this, let's say we have a man-making contest?" To which the scientist replied, "OK, great!" .. But God added, "Now, we're going to do this just like I did back in the old days with Adam." ... The scientist said, "Sure, no problem," and bent down and grabbed a handful of dirt. ... "No, no, no!" God said as He looked at the scientist. "You go get your own dirt."

A guy goes into a bar and orders a beer. Bartender gives him a beer and a bowl of nuts. The guy starts drinking his beer and munches on a few nuts when suddenly he hears a soft voice, "Hey that's a nice tie." ... The guy looks around and sees no one except the bartender at the other end of the bar. The guy takes another sip of his beer and munches a few more nuts when again he hears the soft voice, "Man, you are looking good, have you lost weight?" ... The guy looks around, dazed and confused, and only sees the bartender down at the other end of the bar. ... He has another sip of his beer, a few more nuts, and the same thing happens again, the soft voice, "Wow, where do you buy your clothes? I simply love your jacket". The guy calls the bartender down. "Do you hear voices?" the guy asks nervously. ... "Voices Sir?" the bartender asks thinking he's got a weirdo sitting at the bar. "Yeah, watch this" says the guy. He sips his beer and munches a handful of nuts. Sure enough there's the soft voice. "Man, are you smart or what." "Oh, that", says the bartender, "its the nuts." ... "The nuts?", asks the guy. Yes," says the bartender, "they're complimentary."

Two intrepid explorers met in the heart of the Brazilian jungle. "I'm here," declared one, "to commune with nature in the raw, to contemplate the eternal verities and to widen my horizons. And you, sir?" ... "I," sighed the second explorer, "came because my young daughter has begun piano lessons."

A cowboy rode into town and stopped at a saloon for a drink. Unfortunately, the locals always had a habit of picking on strangers, which he was. When he finished his drink, he found his horse had been stolen. ... He goes back into the bar, handily flips his gun into the air, catches it above his head without even looking and fires a shot into the ceiling. ... "WHICH ONE OF YOU SIDEWINDERS STOLE MY HOSS?" he yelled with surprising forcefulness. ... No one answered. ... "ALL RIGHT I'M GONNA HAVE ANOTHA BEER, AND IF MY HOSS AIN'T BACK OUTSIDE BY THE TIME I FINISH, I'M GONNA DO WHAT I DUN IN TEXAS! AND I DON'T LIKE TO HAVE TO DO WHAT I DUN IN TEXAS!" ... Some of the locals shifted restlessly. ... He had another beer, walked outside, and his horse is back! He saddles-up and starts to ride out of town. ... The bartender wanders out of the bar and asks, "Say partner, before you go... what did happen in Texas?" ... The cowboy turned back and said, "I had to walk home."

Joe had asked Bob to help him out with the deck after work, so Bob just went straight over to Joe's place. When they got to the door, Joe went straight to his wife, gave her a hug and told her how beautiful she was and how much he had missed her at work. When it was time for supper, he complimented his wife on her cooking, kissed her and told her how much he loved her. Once they were working on the deck, Bob told Joe that he was surprised that he fussed so much over his wife. Joe said that he'd started this about 6 months ago, it had revived their marriage, and things couldn't be better. ... Bob thought he'd give it a go. When he got home, he gave his wife a massive hug, kissed her and told her that he loved her. His wife burst into tears. ... Bob was confused and asked why she was crying. She said, "This is the worst day of my life. First, little Billy fell off his bike and twisted his ankle. Then, the washing machine broke and flooded the basement. And now, you come home drunk!"

There were 11 people hanging on to a rope that came down from a helicopter. Ten were men and one woman. They all decided that one person should get off because if they didn't, the rope would break and everyone would die. No one could decide who should go. Finally the woman gave a really touching speech on how she would give up her life to save the others, because women were used to giving up things for their husbands and children and giving in to men. ... All of the others started clapping...

Two men were sitting next to each other at a bar. After a while, one guy looks at the other and says, "I can't help but think, from listening to you, that you're from Ireland" The other guy responds proudly, "You, that I am!" ... The first guy says, "So am I! And where about from Ireland might you be?" The other guy answers, "I'm from Dublin, I am" The first guy responds, "Sure and begorrah, and so am I! And what street did you live on in Dublin?" The other guy says, "A lovely little area it was, I lived on McCleary Street in the old central part of town." ... The firs guy says, "Faith, and it's a small world, so did I! And to what school would you have been going?" The other guy answers, "Well now, I went to St. Mary's of course." ... The first guy gets really excited, and says, "And so did I" Tell me, what year did you graduate?" The other guy answers, "Well, now , I graduated in 1964." The first guy exclaims, "The Good Lord must be smiling down upon us!! "I can hardly believe our luck at winding up in the same bar tonight. Would you believe it, I graduated from St. Mary's in 1964 my own self." ... About this time, another guy walks into the bar, sits down, and orders a beer. ... The bartender walks over shaking his head and mutters, "It's going to be a long night tonight. The O'Malley twins are drunk again."

A newly ordained preacher and his young wife were talking about being more considerate of each other. The good wife promised that she would stop being so critical of his sleep-inducing sermons. He, in return, promised to honor her privacy and stop looking through her dresser drawers. The preacher was true to his word, and never looked through his wife's dresser drawers; the good wife was never openly critical of her husband's sermons; and their marriage progressed smoothly. After 50 years, their children gave a great party to celebrate the golden anniversary of the preacher and his wife. Many people came to congratulate the happy couple, and brought lovely gifts. That evening, as they were putting the gifts away, the preacher saw that his wife had left one dresser drawer slightly open. He tried as hard as he could to withstand the temptation, but he finally opened the drawer and looked inside. There he found 3 eggs, and $10,000.00, in bills of varied denominations. He was greatly puzzled by this, and went to question his wife. "Oh," she said. "Well, you remember when we spoke of being more considerate with each other all those years ago?" The preacher, feeling profoundly guilty, answered "Yes." ... "Well," she continued, "I promised to stop criticizing your boring sermons, but every time you gave a sermon that was a real snoozer, I put an egg into that drawer." The preacher smiled. "Well, that's not so bad. 50 years of sermons and only 3 eggs! But what about all that money?" ... His wife quietly responded, "Every time I got a dozen eggs, I sold them."

Start with a cage containing five apes. ... In the cage, hang a banana on a string and put stairs under it. Before long, an ape will go to the stairs and start to climb towards the banana. As soon as he touches the stairs, spray all of the apes with cold water. ... After a while, another ape makes an attempt with the same result - all the apes are sprayed with cold water. This continues through several more attempts. Pretty soon, when another ape tries to climb the stairs, the other apes all try to prevent it. ... Now, turn off the cold water. Remove one ape from the cage and replace it with a new one. The new ape sees the banana and wants to climb the stairs. To his horror, all of the other apes attack him. After another attempt and attack, he knows that if he tries to climb the stairs, he will be assaulted. Next, remove another of the original five apes and replace it with a new one. The newcomer goes to the stairs and is attacked. The previous newcomer takes part in the punishment with enthusiasm. Again, replace a third original ape with a new one. The new one makes it to the stairs and is attacked as well. Two of the four apes that beat him have no idea why they were not permitted to climb the stairs, or why they are participating in the beating of the newest ape. ... After replacing the fourth and fifth original apes, all the apes, which have been sprayed with cold water, have been replaced. Nevertheless, no ape ever again approaches the stairs. Why not? Because that's the way they've always done it and that's the way it's always been around here. ... And that's how company policy begins....
